NEW ARTICLE: Freeconomics -- The New Wave of Free and Low-cost Meetings Technology Software

We are going through a major technology transformation -- we are moving from shrink-wrapped software to the web as a major means of software distribution. With the price of data storage, computer processors and bandwidth plummeting, this is leading to low cost and free tools for meetings and tradeshows.

This posting will cover a several new free or lower-cost web tools to manage events and tradeshows, and will discuss things to look for in the "freeconomic" world.

NEWS

Corbin to Chair EIBTM's World Wide Technology Watch (WWTW) Award for the 7th Year.

The WWTW is the events industry's most significant award recognizing technology innovation. I am very pleased to I have been asked to chair the judging committee for the seventh year. This award is a great opportunity for technology companies to show their new stuff and get a free booth at EIBTM in Barcelona as well. Deadline for submissions is 3 September. The award will be given 1 December 2010 in Barcelona. Read more...
